nifest at a Kirning in Kingston Krasson, Oct. 7.-Elizabeth Hubbard has egan an action for separation on the ground of abandonment against her husband. Robert C Hubbard. The defendant was for many firms of Benson, Hart & Hubbard and Hubbard & Forshay. He was a member of the Board of Trade, and of many social and secret organizations. For the past few years it has been whispered about that domestic happiness did not exist in the Hubbard family. Various reasons were assigned for it. some said the wife was jealous, and hinted that she had good reason to be. The lubbani family occupied a handsome mansion on one of the principal thoroughfares. It was elegantly furnished throughout, and Mrs. Hubbard was a good entertainer. Her tea par s and evening socials were among the leadng fashionable events. Mrs. Hubbard is a omely brunette of forty or thereabouts. A pair of sparkling black eyes peep from be-

The first outward intimation of domestic trouble manifested itself about a year ago. A kirmiss was given at the Academy of Music, and among those who took part in the gypsy dance were Mr. Hubbard and his wife. A Mrs. Davis had also been assigned to take part. At one of the rehearsals Mrs. Hubbard, it is said, made remarks that were by no conversation.

Mrs. Davis brought an action for slander against Mrs. Hubbard, and able counsel had been retained. To prevent any great publicity. Mr. Bubbard effected a settlement of the suit. Soon afterward he withdrew from the firm with which he was connected and went to South Dakota, where he gained a residence and obtained a divorce, giving him the sole custody and control of three minor children, who were in this city living with their mother. Mrs. Hubbard retained F. L. and A. B. Westbrook, and no attention was paid to the Dakota grook, and no attention was paid to the Dakota

Mr. Hubbard afterwards returned to this Mr. Hubbard afterwards returned to this eity and endeavored to gain possession of the house occupied by his wife, and valued at $12,000. A motion was made before Judgo A. B. Parker to direct the defendant to pay to his wife, during the pending of the action, sums of money necessary for her to carry on the suitand for the support of herself and three minor children. In the affidavit presented in opposition to the motion the defendant, after recting at length the alleged extravagance of his wife since their marriage in October, 1870. opposition to the motion the defendant, after reciting at length the alieged extravagance of his wife since their marriage in October, 1870, said that during the years of their married life the plaintiff had always been a person of bad temper and strong will, with a determination to rule and have her own way, she greatly resented any suggestions of the defendant to economize in expenditures, and insisted that her husband had ample wealth although informed by him that his expenses had crippled and encumbered him with debt. She had also shown a yealous disposition, and had repeatedly and faisely charged her husband, in passionate language, with infidelity and immoral conduct, mentioning many women by name. At times, Mr. Hubsard alleges, she would become furious and ungovernable, and threaten his life. One night, after having driven him from the bed where he was sleeping to another apartment, she entered the room after he had failen asleep, came to the bed, and with a razor attempted to cut his throat. He was obliged to use force to protect himself.

Mrs. Hubbard says that these statements are unitue, and that she can prove the infidelity of her husband. The case has been referred to Counsellor Virgil Van Wagoner.

His Skull Fractured Lan Row Over 60 Cents Patrick Toumey, a plumber of 226 East Fighty-ninth street, had his skull fractured Fighty-ninth street, had his skull fractured last night in a dispute about 60 cents with Cornelius Breen, his employer.

Breen lives at 245 East Eighty-third street and has a shop at 1,011 Second avenue. Last night he paid Toumey 837 wages due, and Toumey made a claim for 60 cents, which he said he had spent for wire for some of the work done.

They came to sharp words, and finally Breen ordered Toumey out of the shop. He followed that up by throwing an iron bar at him. The barbit the man over the left eye and broke his skull. He was sent to the Presbyterian Hospital, and Breen was locked up.

BROOKLYN MUGWUMPS TO BE IG-NOBED.

Republicans Will Have Name of Them Committee of 100 Dwindling. The Democratic primary elections for the choice of delegates to the various nominating conventions were held yesterday in the various wards and towns in Kings county, and passed off without any friction worth mentioning. There will probably be no contesting delegation at any of the conventions. The nom-inations are all to be made during the week. and by next Sunday the entire local Democratic ticket will be in the field.

It is still, apparently, the fixed determination of the leaders to renominate Mayor Boody.

in spite of the howls of the Mugwumps and anti-Snappers, and unless something entirely unexpected should occur before the Convention meets on Saturday night his name will head the city ticket.

The flegublicans are still at soa on the execution of a Mayoralty candidate, but the regular managers are determined to make their nonination regardies of the threats or wishes of the Mugwumps or so-called Independents. A persistent effort is being made to induce ex-Mayor Fred. A. Schroeder to accept the nomination, and if he consents no other name is likely to be discussed. Should Mr. Schroeder decline to run, Mr. Charles A. Schleren, it is thought, may be the standard bearer.

The significant tenture of the campaign so far has been the loud trumpeting of the seconders from the regular Democratic organization and their failure to receive any recognition from the Republican managers.

The famous Committee of 100, which was named by the ten little Mugwumps, has dwindled down to about half that combier, and will probatly disappear from view altogether just as soon as the regular organizations have made their nominations.

MAY STILL SERVE THE STATE

senator McClelland May, Perhaps, be an Assemblyman If He Will.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 7 .- A meeting of the entire Democratic County Committee was held here to-day, which was presided over by Senator McClelland, the Chairman. The committeemen, who were hitherto opposed to McClelland and bolted the meeting when he was elected to the chair attended, and the gathering was really a love feast. Among those who attended the meeting were State Committeeman Hickey and Sheriff Duffy, who helped to heat McClelland for a renomination as State Senator. The County Convention was alled at St. Joseph's Hall, White Plains, for Oct. 17. After the meeting the following slate Oct. 17. After the meeting the following slate is said to have been agreed upon by the leaders, and was given as being nearly correct as to the nominations which will be made; Senator, A. Hennan Morris. Assemblymen-First district, John H. Coyne of Yonkers; Second district, John Berry of Mount Vernon: Third district, Edgar L. Ryder of Sing Sing. County Treasurer, John Hoag of Ossining. Coroners, Edw. Hearne of Courtlandt, Gea. C. Weirs of Mount Vernon, and Edward J. Mitchell of Yonkers.

Mount Vernon, and Edward J. Mitchell of Yonkers.

There is a strong disposition on the part of many of the First district politicians, who fought and opposed McClelland's renomination for Scienter, to nominate him for Assembly. This grows out of the fact that Joseph F. Dair, the City Attorney of Yonkers, wants to be a constitutional delegate, and an effort is being made by Morris's friends to turn him down. He is also backed by Alderman Broderick of Yonkers, who opposed McClelland for Senator. Broderick has declared that if Daly is beaten they will nominate McClelland for Assembly to get even. It is not known whether the Senator would accept the Assembly nomination.

GREE HALGE NOMINATED.

Massachusetts Republicans Name Boston, Oct. 7.-The Massachusetts Republican State Convention was called to order in Music Hall this forenoon by Chairman Winslow of the State Committee. The Hon. Wiliam A. Bancroft of Cambridge was named for President. The sentiments in Mr. Banthusiasm were those relative to temperance legislation, and there was also loud approval of Mr. Bancroft's strictures upon trusts and

The Hon. George D. Robinson reported the platform. It approved the attempt to repeal platform. It approved the attempt to repeal the Sherman Silver law, came out "squarely, without prevarication or subterfuge," for protection, declared against the repeal of the Elections law, and denounced lynchings.

The Hon. A. A. Pillsbury nominated the Hon. F. T. Greenhalge for Governor, and he was selected by the Convention with acclamation. The Hon. Roger Wolcott for Lieutenantiovernor, the Hon. William M. Olin for Secretary of State, and the Hon. John W. Kimball for Auditor of Accounts were renominated by tary of State, and the Hon. John W. Almbail for Auditor of Accounts were renominated by acclamation. For Treasurer, Henry M. Phil-lips of Springfield won. H. M. Knowlton was named for Attorney-General. Mr. Greenhalge's speech of acceptance was received with enthusiasm.

Abraham Meyers's Disappointment

Gloom thick as a fog off the Fishing Banks struck the corridor of the Tombs and wound around the Egyptian columns vesterday morning, when Abraham Meyers, of the law firm of Blake and Sullivan, made his appearfirm of Blake and Sullivan, made his appearance. Mr. Meyers was an applicant for the Jerusalem consulate, and when he learned that the post had gone to a Missourian, his diplomatic suavity forsook him and he said:

"I guess' Tim's 'no longer persona gruta at the White House. I had his assurance that I would be named for the post, and had made every preparation to go to Jerusalem, where I was torn. Hereafter I shall let the office seek the man."

Mr. Meyers's application was endorsed by Mr. Meyer's Application was endosed by Recorder Smyth, Judges Fitzsimons and Martine, Register Levy, Police Justices Divver, McMahon, and Martin, and others of more or less prominence. He recently brought many members of the Garfield Republican Club Into the Democratic column.

They also passed a resolution thanking President Cleveland for the number of his appointments conferred on colored men. Incidentally it was mentioned that William E. Gross of the club wants to be appointed Recorder of Deeds in the District of Columbia. He is a clerk in the Bowery Savings Eank. It was also mentioned incidentally that every Federal place filled by a colored Republican should be promptly filled by a colored Republican should be promptly filled by a colored Democrat. This wasn't put in the form of a resolution addressed to the President, but it is hoped be will learn of the club's opinion and will act accordingly.

From the St. Louis Wide Democra Kansas City, Oct. 3.—Kansas City has developed one of the most unique thieves that has yet been heard of in real life. Several months ago the police force learned that a sneak thief was making depredations upon cellars and pantries, and even on outlying grecery stores, and carrying off canned goods and such eatables as were not perishable. pantries, and even on outlying grocery stores, and carrying off canned goods and such eatables as were not perishable.

There were certain peculiarities about the robberies that led the police to believe that there was no clue that they could follow to catch the thief. After amassing a goodly quantity of food on which to start to housekeeping the thief began on fuel, and whole cart loads were carried away, each case showing the evidences of the food thief. When a full supply of coal was taken the thief turned his attention to furniture, and carried off articles of all kinds, from light chairs to a heavy bedstead with mattresses. An entire bedroom set was taken from a house and no trace left. The family was absent for a night, and on their roturn they found their room despoiled. Having furnished his bedroom and parlors the depredator set about getting his kitchen in order, and first an ice chest was taken from a house in Armourdale, and then a cooking stove and kitchen table from a house in Rossedule. By this time the police were fully alive to to the fact that the stealing was going on right under their noses, and they begand to take about the queer thief. This attention seems to have flattered the thief, for he signalized his presence next by carrying off a large base-burner stove from a parior in Kansas City, Kan, while the family was spending the evening with a neighbor. This occurred last week, and since then it appears that the man has his forniture, food, and fuel for the winter, for the depredations have ceased. Another phase, however, seems to have broken out, and it is evident that a member of the thief's family has sickened and died. A few days so a drug store was broken into and medicine taken, and last night the climax was reached when the thief went to the cemetery out on the Quindare boulevard and arried off a fine tombstone. There is a talent here that shows the development of a system that would beat a jank, and the police are very anxious to make the acquaintance of the thief.

Lean the Philiphia Porm

"Oh, won't you marry me," cried a rather comely girl, with a deep olive complexion the other day as she met one of her gallants down town. The girl spoke English with a decided f-reign accont, and it was learned subsequently that she was an Armenian girl. Apparently the damed was not more than 16 years oid. Her isce wore signs of worriment.

What, get married immediately? asked the surprised friend.

"Yes, right away," said the girl impulsively. The young man thought that the girl had gone daft, but she soon informed him the reason for her action. On the following day was her seventeenth birthday. By the strict Armenian custom, which her parents followed, any girl who is not married before she is 17 is considered to be "old maidish" and unattractive to men. Her parents also clung to the custom of compelling their daughter to fast for forty-eight hours after the beginning of the seventeenth birthday and then to eat salt fish for the next twenty-four hours, without being allowed to quench the thirst.

This the poor Armenian girl suffered, as the young man refusen her proposition, but from now on she can get married when she pleases without fear. And whenever she sees that young man who would not marry her immediately she feels like biting his hoad off.

Horse and Horsewoman Died Together.

Promite Sun Francisco Chronic's.

Virginia. Nev. Sept. 19.—Miners cleaning out an old shalt near Silver City to-day exhumed the skeletons of a human being and a horse. The skeletons of the horse was lying on its back and the human bones were underreath. The latter were covered with the waist and skirt of a sik dress, over which was a lace netting, indicating that the wearer was a woman. The teeth in the skull of the human skeleton are perfect, small, and regular. A portion of the underclothing found is of the texture. Farticles of matted blond hair on the skull show that the remains are of the Caucasian race. The saidle blacket and skirt are of fine cloth, and the steel partion of the stirrup shows that it belonged to a lady's saddle. The shaft where the remains were found was sunk in 1893. None of the old residents of Silver City remember the disappearance of any person from that locality. From the San Francisco Chronic's.

A Reading Mother's Discovery.

READING. Root. 24.—An indiguant mother who saw her li-year-old daughter, clad in gorgeous tights, practising a somersault, has no tifled the police of a peculiar state of things. She says not only her daughter but a number of other girls of that age have been sugaged to form a theatrical combination. These damsels, it appears, meet for rehearsals in barns, and are under the instruction of a couple of men. They intend to make a tour of the small towns of the State, All went tights, it seems, and this one girls mamma was shocked at her daughter's appearance. The police are looking for the men who are training the tender maidens to feel at home in the skirtless costume.

Not Read From the Pulpit, From the Alleny Morning Express.

Lost Sunday a Catskill groceryman, who is prominent in one of the village churches, handed his pastor a notice to read from the pulpit, and was somewhat surprised and indignant when service was concluded, without his announcement being read. The minister was equally surprised when about to read the notice to find the following on the paper:

"Dean Sin: Please find enclosed $2 for which send me a basket of peaches, if they are good, also two pounds of cheese and four pounds of good codias."

The groceryman had been a little careless and got his papers mixed up.

CAPERS OF A GEORGIA STORM. Sort of Kindly Carefulness Character-

From the plattimore Sun. Col. Richard Malcolm Johnston, the writer of Southern plantation sketches, tells some wonderful stories about Georgia weather. He admits that he would not believe them himself were it not for his unbounded faith in everything Georgian in general, and his personal knowledge and unlimited confidence in the veracity of the men who teld him the stories in garticular.

were it not fer his unbounded faith in everything Georgian in general, and his personal knowledge and unlimited confidence in the veracity of the men who teld him the stories in garticular.

"I heard them," he said, "while on a visit to my old home in Hancock county, Georgia, some years ago, and I know that they are true. We had a big storm down there about ten years ago; the folks called it a hurricane, the weather men said it was a tornado. But, hurricane or tornado, it cut some queer old capers. Col. Humber, over in Putnam connty, saw the storm coming up and knew it was going to be a big one. There were a number of indies at his house and, of course, his first thought was for them, so he got them all safely in their rooms and went down into the large hall which ran through his house and shut the door. Now. Col. Humber is a big man—weighs about 200 pounds. When he got down stairs he found the storm was blowing through his hulway, and before he knew what had happened it had picked him up, carried him out on his lawn, and laid him down—not roughly, but gently. At the same time it took a heavy stone and brick chimney off the house and laid it on top of him to keep him in place. It didn't throw the chimney on him, but laid it down with so little force that only his log was broken. In a moment or two another gust came along, picked up the chimney and carried it off, and Col. Humber crawled back into the house.

"That same storm went a little further on till it came to a barn in which were two horses, two mules, and two cows. These were in separate compartments. With a whirl the roof of the barn was taken off as clean as a whistle and carried away, and while the stock was wondering what had happened, a section of the barn was taken off as clean as a whistle and carried away, and while the stock was wondering was taken off as clean as a whistle and carried away, and while the stock was wondering what had happened, a section of the barn was taken off such traps and trinkets as ladde usually have-cosmetics, bottles, a have believed another mile.

"Dut even such storms as that do not occur often. To prove that such queer things do happen, there is a section of a telegraph pole in the museum of the State University. This pole has a light cypross shingle sticking through it, about half of it projecting from each side. That shingle was picked up in a storm and blown clear through the telegraph pole and left sticking there."

A Reported Case of T lepathy.

A Reported Came of T-lepathy.

From the Lombon Invite.

The Popolo Romano relates the following authentic fact, without giving more than the initial of the person to whom it occurred, a distinguished young lawyer of literary reputation, who stated that he could not give the most remote explanation of it: "Some years since, on a hot summer afternoon, the Avvocato A—, together with his wife and two children, let their house in Via Gaeta at 0 clock precisely for an evening walk. He was in good health and spirits, but just as they crossed the street he was suddenly selzed with a shock through his whole body, which caused all the blood to leave his face, and obliged him to support himself against the wall. His wife in alarm assisted him to steady himself, anxiously asking what was the matter. He recovered himself speedily, and was able to continue the walk, only describing an unaccountable perturbation and humming in his ears. The evening breeze and exercise gradually calmed and revived him, and he completely regained his usual frame. They went to visit some friends, and then rested at a cafe, when toward half-past 11 of clock a storm which had been gathering began the first blasts of wind, and they hurried home. Searcely arrived indoors the Avvocate A—hurried to remove some flower pots from a balcony over the street, taking a lamp with him. The wind extinguished the light, so he had to continue his operations in the dark, only illuminated now and then by the lightning flashes. He was just lifting the last flower vase, an ornamental one, given him by his mother, when he was startled by seeing a kind of black veil waving upward close in front of him, which as it rose, assumed a human form. Very much disturbed, he immediately related the strange appearance to his wife, and the perturbation before experienced again overcappe him, leavieg him unable to sleep all night. Early in the morning came a telegram from his brother at Ferrara, stating that their mother had been suddenly seized with cerobral syneope the previous a From the London Tablet

CLEVELAND, Ga., Oct. 1.—At midnight a verdiet was rendered in the Superior Court which relieved Marcus Van Diver of a charge of nurder which he has been battling for over relieved Marcus Van Diver of a charge of murder which he has been battling for over twenty-one years.

In June of 1872 M. K. Palmer, who was at the time one of the most noted lawyers and politicians of the State, attended court here. He was engaged in the prosecution of cases against several prominent men charged with forging land titles. While riding to the home of a friend, with whom he boarded, he was shot to death. No trace of his murderer could be found. A few weeks later Marcus Van Diver, who was a poor cropper, suddenly bloomed out into a man of means. Where he got his money no one knew, and for want of a better explanation the people declared that the land title forgers had paid him to murder the man who was so much in their way. This theory led to an indictment for murder. For some strange reason, while proclaiming his innocence. Van Diver always kept his case at the head of the decket, and for twenty-one years has averted trial. To secure these continuances required influences of the strongest kind, which he always commanded. The Court House, with many records, has been burned since 1872, and many witnesses have died. Van Diver elected this last week that it was safe to allow his case to come to trial. Among the persons present in the court room was the rosthumous daughter of the dead inwyer, who is now a heautiful young woman. The verdict of acquittal was unayoidable, because of the death and absence of witnesses. Van Diver is going to move to Texas next week.

Tramps May Ride Prec. Vice-President Crocker of the Southern Pacific has announced that his company does not propose to make any fight against the hordes of tramps who are leading their way westward on freight trains. He has arrived at the conclusion that it is useless to unload the ticketless tourists, because they get aboard again in sufficient numbers to overnower the trainmen. Therefore Mr. Crocker believes that time can be saved and bloodshed averted by allowing the tramps to ride so long as they are penceable. No proclamation to that effect has been issued from the company headquarters, but it is to be mutually understood that the trainmen are not to molest the "hobos," except in self-effence.

It is likely that the other lines extending from the fleekies to the Pacific will follow the Southern's example in this respect if they have not aiready done so in a quiet way.

TOLD AT THE CLUB.

A PROMINENT MAN'S EARNEST WORDS OF WARNING.

The Conversation In Repeated for the Benefit of Renders Who Are Not filow to Take Advantage of Valuable Advice-What People Should Know,

"Consumption of the brain (paresis) is killing more people than consumption of the lungs. and its effects are infinitely more terrible." These words were spoken at the Manhattan Club by one of New York's greatest physicians. a man whose name is as well known in Europe as it is in America. His remark aroused intense interest among several prominent club men whom headdressed, and they begged him to proceed. After a pause, he continued:
"Of all diseases that menace mankind those of the nervous system are the most dangerous, the most treacherous, and none will more the most treacherous, and none will more speedily bring their victims to the grave. These complaints are not confined to any class of people; he age or sex is free from them."

"What do you consider the cause of these things, Dostor?" asked his hearers.

"It may be due to brain work or to excessive indukence that weakens the system and breaks down the health. Irritability and sleep-lessness arise in this way, because the system is unable to recover from the continual drain and loss of strength, and then comes a breakdown. The brain literally wastes away, just as the lungs do when attacked by consumption. Stimulants are sometimes resorted to, but they only hasten the end, for no simulant or tonic can withstand the terrible effects of a disease that shrinks and withers the largest brain into a mere skeleton of nerveless tissue. All these things show how important it is that the nervous system should be kept strong and vigorous, and that on the approach of any symptoms indicating exhaustion and weakness a remedy be taken to relieve the strain."

There was consternation on the faces of the club men. "What should be done, Doctor?" they inquired.

"Use reasonable care and the best and most advanced help you can get. Every one requires help of some kind. There can be no doubt that the very best and most scientific discovery for these troubles is Paine's celery compound. From Wall street to Hariem there are men, and women, too, who would have died long ngo had it not been for this discovery. I know what I am saying, and while physicians seldom prescribe proprietary medicines. I know of scores who are using this compound.

There are scores of people outside of clubs who need the advice given above. To all such it is repeated with the hope that they may profit by it.—Adr. speedily bring their victims to the grave

WILD REASTS AT LARGE. Terror in the Countryside Until the Circus Men Shooed Them Into Cages. From the St. Louis Republic, Men Shooed Them Into Cages.

From the St. Lewis Republic.

DUNLAP, Mo., Oct. 3.—A most exciting spisode occurred near this place last Thursday, and promised for a time to upast the country for miles around. The woods were full of lions, tigers, panthers, and other wild beasts. Sells Broa. circus showed at Milan, Mo., Wednesday last, and was on its way to Trenton. About 2 o'clock Thursday morning one section of the circus train turned a curvenear Duniap, a few miles the other side of Milan, and three cages on the flat car broke the blocks which held them and toppled off the car. The fall burst the cages and the animals in them bounded off to the woods. In one cage were two lions, in another three tigers, and in the other two leopards. As these animals bounded into the woods they uttered the most terrible screams and roars, which alarmed the entire countryside. Terror struck the people when day broke, when it was learned that the woods were filled with wild beasts. Women and children remained sindoora, while the men went round carrying loaded guns. All through that day and the following night the howis and screams of the wild animals could be heard, and a cow was killed by them, form to pieces, and partially devoured.

While the population hereabouts were keeping pretty well indoors, the circus men were endeavoring to cepture their valuable property. Although the animals were wild, yet they acted very much frightened at their unexpected freedom. Some of the beasts had never known freedom, while others had been in captivity so long that they forgot how to agin in the woods and baiting them with huge chunks of juley meat. They would locate an animal, set a case near him, and then "shoo" him into it as an old lady would drive chickens. In this manner all the beasts were finally captured, and pear the animals that seacoed was block panther. Shortly alter regaining his freedom the panther got into a scrap with a buildog belonging to a firmer near Dunlap. Dog and panther and consequently said hulldog.

Romance on the S

Guthers, Sept. 30.—Yesterday Joseph K. Bracken of Memphis, Tenn., and Miss Lillie McGlashin of Stillwater, Ok., came to this city and were married by the Probate Judge. The young lady had secured a fine claim near Perry, in the Cherokee Strip, and the Judge told her that if she got married she would probably lose the claim. She laughingly replied that she would sooner have a man than a claim any day, and the ceremony proceeded. It afterward came out that the couple first met on the day of the Strip opening, when he stopped to help her drive a couple of sooners off the claim she had staked. He then went on, but because of the delay falled to get a claim, and finally returned to claim the girl he left behind him. After they had been married they returned to Perry, and the haiply groom at once filed a contest on the claim taken by his bride, so if the department does decide that she cannot hold it he will get it, and it will still be in the family.

Working in an illest distillery is nothing but a misdemeaner, while operating a distillery is equal to a felony.

Roper knew this and entered his plea to working in the distillery, which was accepted.

"How long did you work?" asked the Judge when the man stood up for sentence.

"Oh bout a week, I reckon."

"Whose distillery was it?"

"Mrown."

"My own."
The Judge tooked puzzled, but all he could do was to give him a two months' sentence for working in an illicit distillery.

One Screamed and One Didn't,

Two young married men in the Salem excursion to Newport last week played a rather sweet joke on their wives. Before entering the long tunnel at Elk City each was sitting with the other's wife. They agreed to exchange seats in the long tunnel and each kiss his own wife. Well, they did as agreed. One of the young women screamed terribly and attracted the attention of the whole car, and all had a hearty laugh at her expense when the light broke in upon her, resisting fiercely and in her husband's arms. The other one kett perfectly still, and she and her husband had a good laugh on each other when the light broke on them. She said she did not know but what it was her husband, and did not want to give it away if it was not.
